Honoring Baseball's Barrier Breakers

Seventy-five years ago, Jackie Robinson taught us that baseball was a better game once everyone got to play. Recognizing the contribution sports have played in enriching our lives, Bethesda Big Train baseball has honored three heroes who broke barriers and helped move America toward becoming a more welcoming and just society. We followed the lead of Major League Baseball in retiring Jackie Robinson's #42. In 2009, we retired #21 to honor Roberto Clemente, the first Latin American player enshrined in the Hall of Fame. And in 2016, we retired #5 to honor Hank Greenberg, who helped break stereotypes and change opinions many Americans had about Jews.

"Jackie Robinson made my success possible.

Without him, I would never have been able to do what I did."

WELCOME TO BETHESDA BIG TRAIN BASEBALL

To Our Big Train Community:

It is my pleasure to welcome you to the 23rd season of Bethesda Big Train baseball at our beloved Shirley Povich Field.

Two decades plus ago, we promised you “summer nights of family fun with baseball at its most genuine in a county fair-like setting.” I hope you agree that we have delivered on that promise. I believe our fan friendly Big Train brand of “Small town charm and Big League talent” is more valued than ever as we are able to be together again after these last two difficult years.

We are so proud of all we, with your generous support, were able to achieve in 2021. Here are the highlights:

- 🎯 a ninth Cal Ripken Collegiate Baseball League championship;
- 🎯 a highly successful Israel-Bethesda Friendship Game;
- 🎯 hosting 500 Frontline Community Heroes at our Big Train games; and
- 🎯 the spectacular new sculptures of Shirley Povich and Walter Johnson.

Our new general manager Michael Michaud, our returning assistant general manager Patrick Chapman, and our Hall of Fame manager Sal Colangelo have been hard at work this winter and spring to make sure we provide our fans with the very best and most welcoming fan experience in all of summer college baseball. We are so excited to be able to be together again with the full range of engaging entertainment, good food, and championship baseball that has made Big Train baseball at Povich Field so special. As The Washington Post has so aptly stated: “For Baseball That Feels Right, Try Bethesda at Night.”

This summer, in honor of the 75th anniversary of Jackie Robinson’s major league baseball debut, we will be showcasing Montgomery County’s magnificent diversity and honoring our heroes of history. The June 12 Clarence “Pint” Isreal Juneteenth Classic will honor the legacy of Montgomery County’s Black sandlot teams. We will be hosting our very first Big Train Pride Night on June 30. Our July 9 Roberto Clemente Community Service Day will give our fans and players an opportunity to give back to local organizations serving our neighbors in need. We will host a Jewish Baseball Heritage Night on July 7 and an exhibition game with the barnstorming Native American National Baseball Team on July 6. Every fan will get a “Shirley & Walter” t-shirt on June 18 to celebrate our fabulous new sculpture.

All of this and more is only possible because of the dedication of our Bethesda Community Base Ball Club board members, our Big Train staff and volunteers, host families, and our generous donors and sponsors. We thank long term sponsors Community Radiology Associates, FitBite Orthodontics, Gelberg Signs, Johns Hopkins Medicine, Sandy Spring Builders, and SPC Financial and welcome new sponsors Koa Sports, Lafayette Federal Credit Union, Seniors Helping Seniors, and Westfield Montgomery.

This summer, we are launching a Bullpen Club of newcomers and ushers to help improve the fan experience at Povich Field. To learn about joining our volunteer team, please stop by our Bullpen Club table on the concourse behind home plate or go to the Get Involved tab at www.bigtrain.org.

With your ongoing support, we look forward to providing another year of affordable family fun, championship baseball, and service to our community.

Roll Train!

2021 SEASON RECAP

In the 2021, the Big Train amassed an offensive record not previously seen. Combine that with an excellent pitching staff and it was no surprise the team marched to its fifth consecutive League championship.

The team's .306 batting average is the highest in team history. The team also set five league records for team offensive performance, including On Base Percentage (.448), Slugging Percentage (.467), OPS (.915), Runs Scored (343), and Runs Per Game (9.80). Yes, on average they scored nearly ten runs per game! What a fun team to watch!

The leader in helping to get to these numbers was Kemp Alderman (Mississippi). Alderman drove in 47 runs, the second highest total in team history trailing only current Milwaukee Brewer Hunter Renfro's (Mississippi State) 53 RBI in 2012. But Alderman accomplished his total in only 25 games. On a per game basis, Alderman set a new team record with 1.88 RBI per game compared to Renfro's 1.47 per game. Alderman was paired with Matt Thomas (William & Mary), the league's offensive player of the year, who hit .350, scored 34 runs, and drove in 32 runs in 31 games.

Regular Season

After the Covid-induced hiatus of the 2020 summer, the Big Train eagerly jumped into the 2021 season with its first game against the Gaithersburg Giants on June 7. Its fourth batter, Rocco Peppi (Long Beach State), became the 500th player to wear the Big Train uniform in a league game and Bethesda dominated the game, 12-6, with Austin Gauthier (Hofstra), Nolan Schanuel (Florida Atlantic), and Matt Thomas each contributing two RBI. Ryan Metz (Virginia Tech) hurled 2.1 innings of shutout ball to close out the contest.

Big Train would continue winning through its home opener on June 9. It was another lopsided victory, this time 12-5 over the South County Braves. Peppi drove in three with a homer and a double. Kyle Velazquez (St. Mary's CA) hit two doubles and stole two bases. Matt Howat (William & Mary) earned the win by pitching four innings without yielding any earned runs. Following a loss to the Alexandria Aces on June 12, the Big Train took off on a six-game winning streak. Over that period, they outscored their opponents, 73-18. On June 13, Bethesda whipped the Gaithersburg Giants, 14-5, as Matt Thomas went 3/4 with a walk. On June 15, the Big Train crushed the South County Braves, 15-3, with a huge contribution from Kemp Alderman, who drove in five runs. Showing no mercy, Bethesda was back at it against the Braves the next day and thrashed them 16-0. Darius Foster (San Francisco) had three hits and stole four bases. Kemp Alderman drove in another four runs. Matt Bedford (Notre Dame) started the game and earned the win with four innings of shutout ball for the seven-inning contest. On June 16, the Big Train bested the Thunderbolts 10-3 and 12-3 in a doubleheader. Starter Luke Baker (Jacksonville) hurled an impressive four innings, yielding only one run, to keep the first game in hand until the bats picked up. The second game was tied, 3-3, going into the ninth until

The team set five league records for team offensive performance, including On Base Percentage (.448), Slugging Percentage (.467), OPS (.915), Runs Scored (343), and Runs Per Game (9.80).

Darius Foster led off and manufactured the winning run. He singled, stole second, and scored on a single by the next batter. The inning exploded, and the Big Train scored nine runs, but Foster's was the lead run that held up through the end of the game. On June 17, Big Train edged the D.C. Grays, 6-4, in the only close contest during the streak. Bethesda dominated most of the game, leading 5-0 heading into the eighth. Noah Carbajal (Long Beach State) started the game and earned the win. Ryan Lynch (Notre Dame) hurled a shutout inning in relief. Grant Knipp (Alabama) had one of his best days, going 2/3 and Matt Thomas homered. The Grays scored four runs in the last two innings, but Rocco Peppi homered to tally one more run for Big Train and Jesse Barron (San Francisco) held on to earn the save.

The Big Train lost to the Gaithersburg Giants on June 18, 6-4, and then began another six-game winning streak. On June 19, they beat the Alexandria Aces in a doubleheader, 13-1 and 8-4. In the first game, Ryley Johnson (East Carolina) led off and went 3/4. Luke Baker pitched one-hit, one-run ball for four innings, and Cooper Rons (UC Santa Barbara) threw the other three innings yielding one hit and no runs. In the second game, Trevor Doyle (Sacramento State) went 2/3 and scored two runs. Grayson Hitt (Alabama) earned the win with four shutout innings. On June 20, Big Train bats were on display again as the team beat the Thunderbolts, 18-5. It was another five-RBI day for Alderman. Austin Gauthier and Keith Torres (Sacramento State) had three RBI apiece. Jack Cone (William & Mary) hit his seventh double of the year. On June 23, the Big Train crunched the D.C. Grays, 13-1. Rocco Peppi starred in the game with two homers and five RBI. Jake Eddington (Alabama) started the game and allowed only one run in three innings. Zach Locke (Long Beach State) was credited with the win with two shutout innings. Everett Catlett (Georgetown) and Josh Grosz (East Carolina) took the mound for short, but effective, stints. On June 24, Big Train bested the Gaithersburg Giants, 7-4. Starter Brock Guffey (Alabama) hurled an impressive four innings, giving up only a single hit and no runs. On June 25, Bethesda was the winner over the Alexandria Aces, 5-2. The pitching quartet of Grayson Hitt, Noah Carbajal, Matt Howat, and Jesse Barron kept the Aces at bay.

After a loss to the Thunderbolts on June 26, the Big Train won four of the next five heading into the Fourth of July break. On June 27, they edged the Grays, 9-7, as Brady Gumpf (Notre Dame) had a big day, going 4/4. On June 29, Danny Neri (Notre Dame) scored the winning run in the bottom of the 10th on a Jack Cone sacrifice fly to give Big Train a 7-6 win over the Braves. The next day, Bethesda beat the Braves again, 17-2, as Kemp Alderman drove in six, and the trio of Brock Guffey, Jack Braley (Christopher Newport) and Josh Grosz sparkled on the mound. The 14 Big Train runs in the 8th inning constituted a team record for runs in one inning. The Giants beat the Big Train, 5-1, on July 2, but the Big Train rebounded to beat the Thunderbolts, 4-2, the next day.

The Big Train started the second half of the season slowly, splitting the first two games. They beat the Grays, 6-3, on July 6, and lost to the Braves, 14-7, the next day. Then they took off, winning six of their next seven games -- all by wide margins. On July 8, they beat the Giants, 9-1. Grant Knipp (Alabama) contributed a double and two RBI.

Chris Bookhultz (Maryland) closed out the ninth with a hitless and scoreless outing. On July 10, the Big Train whipped the Grays in both ends of a doubleheader, 16-3 and 10-1. In the first game, Matt Thomas drove in seven, and Kyle Robinson (Texas Tech) registered the win. In the nightcap, Ryley Johnson and Keith Torres each drove in three runs, and Matt Bedford threw five masterful innings of no-hit ball. The seven-inning game was completed as a no-hitter, with Bookhultz and Locke hurling the final two innings. On July 11, Big Train trounced the Braves, 15-3. Austin

2021 SEASON RECAP

Gauthier had a perfect day at the plate, hitting a homer and a triple, and taking three walks, while scoring four runs. Grant Knipp went 4/5 and drove in three runs. The Thunderbolts beat Bethesda on July 12, and then the Big Train turned around and whipped the Aces, 14-2, the next day. Continuing to dominate the Aces, the Big Train beat them, 17-3, on July 14. Keith Torres went 4/4 in this game and drove in four. On July 15, Big Train lost to the Giants in a squeaker, 3-2. On July 20, Big Train bounced back and walloped the Thunderbolts, 14-1. Nolan Schanuel was the big hitter in that game, going 3/4 with four RBI. The regular season ended with a doubleheader split with the Grays on July 21. The Grays took the first game, 7-4. Big Train came from behind in the seventh and final inning of the second game with six runs to edge the Grays, 9-8. A Kemp Alderman homer finished it and set off the celebration as Big Train headed into the playoffs as the regular season champs.

League Semifinals

As the #1 seed in the playoffs, Bethesda sat for a bye in the first round. The last place D.C. Grays beat the Gaithersburg Giants in the first round to earn the right to face the Big Train in the semis. It proved to be a lopsided series. In Game One, Bethesda was already ahead 4-0 by the end of the first inning, partly propelled by a two-run homer by Nolan Schanuel. At the end of two, it was 6-0, and with the use of his speedy base running, Darius Foster had already scored his second run. In the third, Foster hit a 3-run homer, and that inning ended with Big Train ahead 10-1. Continuing the bombardment, the Big Train scored another three runs in the fourth inning, two of which came on a single by Danny Neri. Grayson Hitt cruised to the win, with Cooper Rons and Matt Howat finishing up for a 14-2 romp. In Game Two, the Big Train got off to a first inning lead again, but it was not as pronounced. Ryley Johnson and Matt Thomas got on base and after a double steal of second and third, Grant Knipp drove them in with a single to give his team a 2-0 lead. Nolan Schanuel led off the second with a single, and advanced around the bases to score on a single, a walk, and a double play. The Grays answered with a run in the bottom of the second to make the score 3-1. Big Train opened things up in the fourth inning with five runs. The big hit was a three-run triple by Ryley Johnson. Big Train scored two in the top of the fifth, matched by two by the Grays in the bottom of the inning. The Grays scored their fourth and final run in the seventh. Big Train notched another pair of runs in the eighth. They closed out the game with two more in the ninth. Ryley Johnson singled to score Colin Tuft (Virginia) and Christian Martin (Virginia Tech) singled to score Brady Gumpf. Matt Bedford hurled five innings while yielding only one run. The final score was 14-4.

League Championship Series

The Alexandria Aces entered the playoffs as the #2 seed. In the semifinals, they topped the Thunderbolts, 4-1 and 10-0. It was clear that the league's top two teams were meeting for the championship.

Game One was held at Povich Field on July 29. Jake Eddington was sent to the mound for the Big Train and was on his game from the start. He would throw four innings and yield only one hit and no runs. In the meantime, the offense went to work. In the first inning, Darius Foster singled, stole a couple of bases, and scored on a wild pitch. Grant Knipp walked, advanced to second on a wild pitch, and scored on a single. In the second, Rocco Peppi hit a home run to extend the lead to 3-0. Nolan Schanuel led off the fourth with a single and scored on a Keith Torres double. Luke Baker took over on the mound in the fifth and would toss three innings to earn the win. In the bottom of the fifth, Matt Thomas reached on a single, advanced on an error, and scored an unearned run on a single by Grant Knipp. In the sixth, Keith Torres scored a run after slamming a double. The final run for Big Train came in the eighth as Trevor Doyle homered. At this point, the score was 7-0. The Aces managed to tally two runs in the ninth, but they fell short, and the Big Train took Game One 7-2.

The next day, Game Two was played at Frank Mann Field in Alexandria. Again, Manager Sal Colangelo chose a pitcher ready to come through for the team. This time it was Josh Grosz. Josh pitched six innings of shutout ball, striking out nine. It took a little longer for the Big Train bats to get going in this game. At the end of one, the game was scoreless, but the Aces came close to scoring. Behind two hits and a Big Train error, they had runners on first and second. Then came a single through the infield. Jack Cone fielded it and pegged it to catcher Danny Neri, who tagged the Aces runner at home plate to end the inning and squelch the rally. In the second, Kemp Alderman singled, Nolan Schanuel struck out, Rocco Peppi singled, moving Alderman to second. Trevor Doyle singled to right field and while Alderman was out at the plate, Peppi kept coming and scored to give the Big Train the lead. In the third inning, Darius Foster got aboard on an error and moved to third base on a passed ball and a wild pitch and eventually scored on a sacrifice fly. Jack Cone walked and scored on a two-run homer by Kemp Alderman. Those three runs gave Big Train a 4-0 lead, which the pitching staff would hold up. Ryan Daugherty (St. Mary's CA) pitched the final three innings for Big Train and blanked the Grays with no hits. Once again, for the fifth consecutive time, the Big Train were the champions of the Cal Ripken Collegiate Baseball League.

ADKINS, CROWLEY, AND RENFROE INDUCTED INTO CAL RIPKEN COLLEGIATE BASEBALL LEAGUE HALL OF FAME

Luke Adkins (BT 2006, 2008, and 2009/Mississippi State), super host mom Becky Crowley, and Hunter Renfroe (BT 2011 and 2012/Mississippi State) were inducted into the Cal Ripken Collegiate Baseball League Hall of Fame on November 7 along with inaugural Ripken League commissioner Bill Spencer, Thunderbolt founder Dick O'Connor, and Maryland Orioles slugger Justin Bour.

It was a true Big Train family affair with Luke Adkins and his family travelling from Mississippi to attend and Becky Crowley's family out in force. Manager Sal Colangelo and Big Train founder Bruce Adams spoke about the valued friendships and relationships established over the two decades of Big Train baseball at Povich Field. In paying tribute to Becky Crowley, both Colangelo and Adams said that our host families are the secret sauce that have helped propel the Big Train to so many championship seasons.

Luke Adkins, named to the Ripken League All League Team in all three of his Big Train seasons, now serves as head baseball coach at Starkville High School in Mississippi. Becky Crowley serves on the board of directors of the Bethesda Community Base Ball Club and as treasurer of the Ripken League.

Now a member of the Milwaukee Brewers, Hunter Renfroe led the Big Train to a national championship in 2011 and shattered Ripken League hitting records in 2012.

Big Train manager Sal Colangelo, Brian Dozier (BT 2006/Southern Mississippi), and Big Train founder Bruce Adams were three members of the 2019 inaugural class of the Ripken League Hall of Fame along with Cal Ripken Senior, Youse's Maryland Orioles Manager Dean Albany, and Thunderbolts hurler Brett Cecil.

The Ripken League Hall of Fame plaques are displayed on the back of the first base grandstand at Povich Field.

LUKE ADKINS

LUKE ADKINS played for the Bethesda Big Train in 2006, 2008, and 2009. In 2009, he shared the Most Valuable Player award on the Big Train's powerhouse 34-10 team that was ranked the nation's ninth best summer college team by Perfect Game Crosschecker. Luke led the Ripken League in hitting in 2009 with a .380 batting average, 52 hits and 37 RBIs. Named to the All League team in all three of his seasons with the Big Train, Luke collected 188 career total bases with 28 doubles and seven triples. He was named the Big Train's Most Outstanding Hitter in 2006. Playing college baseball at University of Southern Mississippi and Mississippi State University, Luke had a career batting average of .301 with 199 hits and 124 RBIs. Luke was named head baseball coach at Starkville High School in Starkville, Mississippi in June of 2018.

REBECCA CROWLEY

BECKY CROWLEY represents the very finest values of the world of summer college baseball. She has used the skills and resources of a successful business executive to enrich our community through her support of amateur baseball. "Miss Becky," as her boys call her, has been the volunteer host mom for dozens of Ripken League players from the Bethesda Big Train over a period of more than two decades. The success of Big Train baseball has been attributed in significant part to the word of mouth of Ripken alumni about the warm and welcoming environment created by Becky and other host families. Becky serves as the League's treasurer and has served as a volunteer at virtually every Ripken League All-Star Game and Championship Series since the League's founding. She is a role model for the generosity of spirit upon which summer college baseball thrives.

SHIRLEY & WALTER: TOGETHER AGAIN

On a gorgeous and festive Saturday morning November 6, 2021, members of the families of Shirley Povich and Walter Johnson joined with Montgomery Parks officials, County elected leaders, and Bethesda Community Base Ball Club leaders past and present to dedicate sculptures of two of Washington's most iconic sports figures. The sculptures of journalist Shirley Povich, for whom our ballpark is named, and Walter Johnson, whose Big Train nickname our team carries with pride, were crafted by Toby Mendez, the sculptor who turned the legends of Birdland into bronze at Camden Yards.

Big Train co-founder John Ourisman envisioned Shirley Povich Field as "a living history museum" educating future generations about famed Washington Post sportswriter Shirley Povich and baseball Hall of Famer Walter Johnson. Large, colorful biographical murals of Povich and Johnson have greeted visitors as they enter Povich Field since our very first game on June 4, 1999.

At the November 6 dedication ceremony, Bethesda Community Base Ball Club founder and president Bruce Adams introduced Toby Mendez as "a nationally recognized sculptor with a spectacular portfolio focused on civil rights and sports." Mendez noted "this work of art brings civil rights and sports together." Mendez quoted one of his most celebrated subjects, Thurgood Marshall, as saying that a hero is someone who when they have a voice, they use it. "Shirley," Mendez said, "prodded and provoked Major League Baseball to desegregate. He prodded and provoked the Washington football club to do the right thing and integrate. So, he's my hero."

Former Washington Post sports editor George Solomon spoke about his colleague Shirley Povich and was presented with a replica plaque for the newly named George Solomon Press Box: "Shirley Povich would have loved Povich Field and all it stands for. He loved baseball, and he loved baseball at its roots, which is what this is." ESPN's Tim Kurkjian, a living baseball encyclopedia, pronounced Walter Johnson "the greatest pitcher ever. There is not a close second." Tim received a replica of the Tim Kurkjian Sports Journalism Fellows (aka Big Train summer interns) plaque that will also be displayed near the door to the Solomon Press Box.

Walter Johnson's grandson and biographer Hank Thomas pointed out that "this scene (of Shirley Povich interviewing Walter Johnson) undoubtedly took place countless times." Hank recalled, as many Washingtonians have over the years, that he learned to read by reading Shirley Povich's columns each morning.

Shirley Povich's son Maury concluded the dedication by saying that if his father would have been given a choice to sit next to anyone other than family for eternity, it would have been Walter Johnson. Maury explained that his father believed Johnson was "the most honest, the most humble, and the most humane of any athlete he had ever been around." This is really saying something as Povich covered athletes for 75 years from Ruth to Ripken.

The Shirley & Walter sculpture was made possible because of generous contributions from:

BIG TRAIN COMMUNITY HEROES

The Bethesda Community Base Ball Club (BCBBC) has always been about more than baseball. Our founding mission was to improve opportunities for youth.

From 1999 to 2011, we made $600,000 worth of improvements to youth baseball and softball fields from Germantown to Anacostia. Big Train baseball helped the Cal Ripken Collegiate Baseball League collect 60,846 pounds of food for the Manna Food Center from 2010 to 2019.

For eleven seasons from 2009 to 2019, with the support of the Jim and Carol Trawick Foundation, Bethesda Big Train provided local nonprofit organizations with 100 free tickets each and an opportunity to showcase their organizations to Big Train fans. Over those eleven seasons, more than 400 local nonprofits benefitted from the Nonprofits of the Night program.

When we retook stewardship of Big Train in 2020, we honored five Big Train Community heroes and donated $2,500 to the Manna Food Center and $1,400 to Nourishing Bethesda.

In response to challenges due to the covid pandemic, we transitioned to a program of hosting community heroes from a different nonprofit at each Big Train home game. We dedicated our 2021 Big Train season to the community heroes

-- the nurses, community nonprofits, first responders, doctors, grocery store clerks, and others -- who worked so tirelessly on the frontlines during the pandemic. "These are the folks who helped us through these challenging times," explained Big Train founder Bruce Adams. "They deserve some fun."

At each Big Train home game during the 2021 season, we honored 25 Frontline Community Heroes with a free ticket to the game and a dinner and a drink thanks to the generous support provided by the Jim and Carol Trawick Foundation, The Sebrechts Family, and Melanie Folstad, RBC Wealth Management. Thanks to these generous sponsors, nearly 500 frontline community heroes were treated to a night at the ballpark with dinner from our wonderful food providers at Gregorio's Trattoria and Catalyst Hot Dogs. The Frontline Heroes from Nourishing Bethesda are shown in the photo below being applauded by the Big Train fans during our June 20 game. Other organizations honored included Shepherd's Table, B-CC Rescue Squad, NIH Clinical Center, Manna Food Center, and National Center for Children and Families.

At games during the 2021 season, we were able to recognize at Povich Field the five Big Train Community Heroes we had named in 2020:

Mark Bergel, founder and executive director of A Wider Circle;

Sheryl Brissett-Chapman, executive director of National Center for Children and Families;

Randy Schools, our Big Train Booster Club chair for two decades who helped establish The Children's Inn at NIH; and Teresa Rios Wright, a career Montgomery County Public Schools teacher and board member emeritus of Identity.

Each Community Hero received a Big Train jersey with COMMUNITY HERO stitched on the back above Roberto Clemente's #21. In addition, the Trawick Foundation made a $250 contribution to the organization of each hero. On the night we celebrated her 90th birthday, we presented former Member of Congress and Ambassador Connie Morella with a Community Hero jersey in honor of her extraordinary service to our country and our community.

BIG TRAIN COMMUNITY HEROES

At each Bethesda Big Train home game during the 2022 season, we will honor an outstanding community nonprofit with tickets and dinner for 25 Community Heroes who work tirelessly to make our community so special and serve our neighbors in need.

Thanks to the generous support provided by:

Jim and Carol Trawick Foundation

The Sebrechts Family and Luc Sebrechts/Morgan Stanley Wealth Management

Melanie Folstad, RBC Wealth Management

For the 2022 season, we are proud to announce that we will continue our program of honoring a different nonprofit at each home game. Again this year, each nonprofit will receive 25 free tickets and dinner on their game night thanks to the continued generous support of the Jim and Carol Trawick Foundation, The Sebrechts Family and Luc Sebrechts/Morgan Stanley Wealth Management, and Melanie Folstad/RBC Wealth Management.

This summer, we are again honoring individual Community Heroes as well, including these six nonprofit leaders:

Haile Gebregziabher, Director of Operations, Shepherd's Table;

Agnes Leshner, Board Member, Interfaith Works, and child advocate;

Cara Lesser, Founder, KID Museum;

Linda Plummer, President, Montgomery County NAACP;

John Ross, Founder, Nourishing Bethesda; and

Rob Scheer, Founder, Comfort Cases

As in 2021, the Trawick Foundation will be contributing $250 to each of the nonprofits represented by these individual Community Heroes.

In addition, Big Train is honoring philanthropist Carol Trawick and sportscaster Johnny Holliday as Big Train Community Heroes in 2022.

ISRAEL-BETHESDA FRIENDSHIP GAME

TEAM ISRAEL PREPS FOR OLYMPICS AT POVICH FIELD

It was standing room only at Shirley Povich Field for the Israel-Bethesda Friendship Game on July 18, 2021 when the Big Train hosted the Olympic-bound Israel National Baseball Team. Just days before departing for Japan, former major leaguers Ian Kinsler, Ty Kelly, Ryan Lavarney, and Danny Valencia faced off against the Big Train. The Big Train took a 7-5 lead into the last inning, but Team Israel won a dramatic come from behind victory. Team Israel split two exhibition games with Ripken League All Stars, winning at FNB Field in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania and losing at Ripken Stadium in Aberdeen, Maryland.

After a pre-game ceremony that featured remarks from Tammy Ben Haim, Minister for Public Diplomacy of the Embassy of Israel, and Peter Kurz, general manager of Team Israel, Big Train slugger Grant Kipp treated the standing room only crowd of 835 to a home run in the second inning. Playing the third inning under international rules, both teams started with runners on first and second. Ian Kinsler had an RBI double and scored on a single by Ty Kelly. Kelly also scored, as did a third run to give Team Israel the lead at 3-1. In the bottom of the third, Bethesda's Danny Neri scored on a sacrifice fly. In the top of the fourth, Team Israel scored a run to pad its lead to 4-2. In the top of the fifth, Danny Valencia scored for Israel. Big Train answered in the bottom of the inning with two runs, bringing the score to 5-4. Christian Martin hit a double to bring in Brady Gumpf and Martin scored on a single by Trevor Doyle. In the bottom of the sixth, the Big Train scored three runs and pulled ahead, 7-5. Nolan Schanuel and Colin Tuft led off the inning by getting on base. After the next two Big Train batters failed to advance them, Ryley Johnson drove them in with a ground rule double. Then Johnson stole third and scored on an error by the catcher. In the seventh and final inning, the Big Train gave up three runs, none of them earned. Israel's Nick Rickles reached first on an error and scored on a two-run homer by Robb Paller. One more unearned run came in, and Team Israel led 8-7 going into the bottom of seventh and last inning. The Big Train had one more chance, and got two men on base via walks, but could not score.

With support from our partners at the International Jewish Sports Foundation, Jewish Community Relations Council, Bender JCC of Greater Washington, The Jewish Federation, Washington Jewish Week, and the Embassy of Israel, the Friendship Game was a true celebration of community. Importantly, we were able to raise nearly $30,000 to support Team Israel on its historic trip to the Olympics.

HIDDEN DIAMONDS

For Montgomery County's Black communities, sandlot baseball was a big hit

BY BRUCE ADAMS

THERE ARE NO HINTS at the Cabin John Village shopping center in Potomac or at the Walgreens on Hungerford Drive in Rockville that crowds used to watch baseball games on the land now occupied by those buildings. Growing up in Montgomery County in the 1950s as a baseball-crazy kid, I didn't have a clue that some of the country's finest ballplayers were playing at ballfields just miles from my house in Potomac.

In the second half of the 19th century, when four of every 10 Montgomery

County residents were Black, formerly enslaved people founded more than three dozen communities throughout the county. These historic Black communities were isolated and often denied public services. Over the years, some were ignored, others were bulldozed. For many of them, "history is buried with the people," says the Rev. Tim Warner of Emory Grove United Methodist Church in Gaithersburg.

Along with churches and schools, baseball became the center of civic life in these communities from the 1940s through the 1960s. Many of them—from Emory Grove to Lyttonsville and Scotland to Sandy Spring—organized sandlot teams, according to my research for "In Search of the Ballfields of Montgomery's Black Communities," a 2021 presentation for the nonprofit Montgomery History.

"Baseball was the entertainment. It started out of necessity," former Sandy Spring player Jim Offord, who died in 2019, said in a County Cable

Montgomery documentary that aired in 2000. "It was one of the few places we could go. It didn't take much to get us excited because we didn't have much anyway."

Local baseball historian Billy Gordon, who grew up in Rockville watching the Black sandlot stars play, recalls that the "entire African American community" would turn out. "It was quite a scene," says Gordon, who participated in the Montgomery History presentation. "The preacher would be at the game, and the bootlegger would be there dispensing beverages."

The center of the county's Black sandlot teams was Johnson's Park in Emory Grove. Roughly 1,000 people would show up on Memorial Day for food, fellowship and a two-night doubleheader. Barnstorming Negro Leagues teams came to the Emory Grove ballpark to take on the county's top sandlot teams: Rockville American Legion Post 151, the Maryland Wildcats and the Sandy Spring All-Stars, according to Gordon.

The ballparks provided entertainment and a place to gather for Black residents, who were blocked from other options because of Jim Crow laws.

Some of Montgomery's best players competed in the Negro Leagues before returning home to join their local sandlot teams and raise their families. Segregation denied them the opportunity to match their skills against the very best, according to Gordon, who lists Russell Awkard, Bill Williams and brothers Clarence "Pint" Isreal and Elbert Isreal as top players.

Black business entrepreneurs and county residents Edward Johnson, Joe Davis, William Wims, Charlie Harris and Buck Bailey saw the success of the Negro Leagues and built ballparks that attracted hundreds of fans. The ballparks provided entertainment and a place to gather for Black residents, who were blocked from other options because of Jim Crow laws.

Johnson's Park and a ballfield in Norbeck with two names—Bailey's and Page's—hosted night games under the lights. Joe Davis' Oak Haven in Boyds had a dance hall and served a full dinner after Sunday games. Wims Meadow in Clarksburg and Harris Meadow in Stewartown drew top crowds on weekends from Memorial Day to Labor Day.

"When you played at night at Johnson's Park, you felt like you were a pro," Eddie Dove, a former Scotland Eagles third baseman, told me. Built in 1947, Johnson's Park is now owned by Montgomery Parks.

As entertainment opportunities for Black residents widened in the 1960s and early '70s, the Black sandlot teams faded away. ■

PINT ISREAL, MONTGOMERY COUNTY'S Magnificent Mite

by Bill Hickman

He beat out an All-Star second baseman to win a starting job with a Negro League baseball team. He held off a Hall of Fame third baseman from taking away his spot at the hot corner on his Negro League team. He was a starting third baseman in the 1946 Negro League World Series. He was penciled into starting lineups by three managers who now reside in the Hall of Fame. He was a local man who spent nearly his whole life in Rockville. His name was Clarence “Pint” Isreal.

Let’s be clear about the spelling of his last name. That’s Isreal, not Israel, like the country. Newspapers of the day were confused about it, and out of respect, we wish to state it correctly here.

The earliest years of Clarence Isreal were spent in rural Georgia. He was born in Marietta, Georgia, on February 15, 1918, but his parents, Frank and Violet Isreal, lived on a farm in a place called Big Shanty in an area of Cobb County near Kennesaw. Frank was a sharecropper and railroad worker whose life spanned from 1886 to 1977, and Violet lived from 1891 to 1985; they were wed in 1911. In 1923, Frank and Violet packed up their household and moved to Rockville, Maryland, where they hoped their lives would improve.

Clarence grew up on Stonestreet Avenue in the Lincoln Park neighborhood of Rockville. He attended segregated schools, including Rockville Colored Elementary School, and graduated from Rockville Colored High School in 1935. Unfortunately, to families of color, the city seemed in many ways like a place in the Deep South until well into the mid-century.

After high school, he played sandlot baseball locally around Rockville for a few years. A historical marker in Rockville indicated the first semipro team with which he signed to play was the Washington Royals. The year on the marker is in the process of being revised, but the team seems to be correct. The Washington Royals were a semipro team that traveled up the East Coast to cities such as Rochester, New York, and Trenton, New Jersey, to take on all sorts of local YMCA and other teams. Clarence’s nephew, Jackie Smith, believes Clarence joined the Washington Royals in 1938. Then he began playing at a higher level of semipro ball with the Washington Royal Giants in 1939. The Royal Giants played in Griffith Stadium, the same ballpark as the American League’s Washington Senators. The Royal Giants were in the Negro International League, and they were making their debut under that name in 1939. In 1938, the team had been known as the Washington Black Senators.

Clarence was a fine ballplayer. His Royal Giants manager, Ben Taylor, who had been a premier player in the Negro Leagues and who would be inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame in 2006, described Clarence as “another Dandridge.” The reference was to Ray Dandridge, who had a hall-of-fame career as a third baseman and who was generally considered, along with Judy Johnson, one of the two best Negro League third sackers. Later, Clarence Isreal and Ray Dandridge became teammates on the Newark Eagles, and Clarence was the one who held down the third-base spot. That’s how good Clarence was. After his death, the Montgomery Journal reported that scouts had said about Clarence: “You just can’t get anything past him at third.”

Clarence was generally known by his nickname “Pint,” which came from his diminutive size. According to the website of the Cobb County (Georgia) Hall of Fame, of which Clarence is an honored member, he was 5-foot-5. Seamheads.com confirms that. Originally, the nickname was “Half Pint,” but it was shortened as people verbalized it and used it with more frequency.

In 1940, Pint made his debut in the Negro Leagues with the Newark Eagles and was positioned at second base as one-half of the keystone combination with future major-leaguer Buzz Clarkson. He took over from 12-year veteran second baseman Dick Seay, as the 1940 Eagles manager Dick Lundy announced on July 29 that Isreal had been doing such terrific work as an understudy that he deserved the top job. According to James Riley’s The Biographical Encyclopedia of The Negro Baseball Leagues, although never a spectacular hitter, Seay had been the best defensive second baseman in the Negro Leagues during the decade of the 1930’s, so Isreal had beaten out somewhat of a legend.

Pint had a highly successful rookie season, batting .294 with 32 hits in 32 games, with an on-base percentage of .347. He hit four homers, scored 28 runs, and drove in 22 runs.

As 1941 began, Pint moved over to third base so Hall of Fame pitcher Leon Day could play second during those games when he wasn’t on the mound. Newspapers praised Pint’s playing with terms like “sparkplug of the infield.” Pint came very close to making the East-West All-Star game, falling short by just two percentage points in the voting.

For the 1941 season, Isreal hit .268 with 42 hits in 44 games, with an on-base percentage of .341. He hit two homers, scored 31 runs, and drove in 17 runs while hitting second in the batting order for most of the year.

In 1942, Pint returned to the Eagles and continued to receive praise for his play. He was now under a new manager and another future hall-of-famer, Willie Wells. In late June, the Washington Evening Star stated that “Newark is reported to have one of the finest infields in Negro baseball, with (Willie) Wells at short, ‘Pint’ Israel (sic) at third, Ray Dandridge at second, and Lenny Pearson at first.” Isreal’s batting average declined, but he had a solid season. He hit .208 with 30 hits and 19 walks in 42 games, scored 24 runs, and drove in another 15 from the lead-off spot in the lineup that year. As the summer proceeded, he unfortunately lost his draft exemption and, on August 18, reported for induction into the Army.

Having completed his military service, he returned to the Newark Eagles in 1946. He would be playing for Biz Mackey, his third hall-of-fame manager. In the season’s first game, played in Newark on May 7, Isreal’s teammate Leon Day tossed a no-hitter. The game was a pitchers’ duel and scoreless until the sixth inning, when Pint hit a triple to right-center and subsequently scored as the Eagles beat the Philadelphia Stars and Barney Brown, 2-0. Brown gave up only six hits that day, Pint had two of them.

The most important game of the 1946 season for Pint and the Eagles took place on September 4. That was the day the Eagles clinched the National League championship, assuring a spot in the Negro League World Series. The Eagles won that game 17-5 over the Cuban Stars. Pint had two hits – both doubles, according to the newspaper write-up – and scored four runs. The account in the Indianapolis Recorder cited future hall-of-famer Larry Doby as the leading Eagles contributor with five hits in the game, but Pint was the second offensive player mentioned.

In the Negro League World Series of 1946, the Eagles faced the Kansas City Monarchs. In Game One, Pint was the starting third baseman for the Eagles. He had one at-bat before he was injured chasing a foul pop off the bat of Herb Souell into the field boxes along the third-base line. He ended up dislocating his knee and did not make another appearance until Game Five, played in Chicago’s Comiskey Park. In that game, he was once again the starting third sacker, and he hit a single in three official at-bats. That was the only contest of the World Series in which Pint played the entire game.

Going into Game Six, the Eagles were down in the series three games to two and were desperate for a win. One more loss and the Monarchs would have been champions. Pint started the game at third base, managed to get a walk in the first inning, and moved around the bases to score the Eagles’ first run. The Monarchs took a 5-0 lead in the top of the first, but by the time the inning was over, the lead narrowed to 5-4. The Eagles ended up winning by a final score of 9-7. The two-run edge was slim, so every run was important, and Pint had made a significant contribution. The victory enabled the Eagles to advance to Game Seven, which they won, although Isreal did not play.

1947 was Pint’s final year in the Negro Leagues. He spent it with the Homestead Grays. Although his batting average dwindled to .206, he was playing regularly, so his defensive skills were still valued by the manager. Only five players on the team had more plate appearances than Pint. With Jackie Robinson having broken the color barrier in the major leagues that season, Pint could foresee the demise of the Negro Leagues, and he didn’t want to start over again in the minors of affiliated baseball. So, he retired.

In the post-Negro Leagues phase of his life, he became an outstanding individual in another sense. He was a strong community leader who was devoted to the cause of helping to steer youth in the right direction. He was the co-founder of the Black Angels Boys Club, which served lads from all over Montgomery County. He gave his time to all sorts of organizations, such as Head Start, FISH, Big Brothers, and his church. He was the player/manager of the first integrated baseball team in Montgomery County – the NIH Baseball Team. And he was the mentor for numerous youths interested in sports.

Pint died in 1987. In 1988, the Mayor and Council of Rockville dedicated a city park in his honor. It is in the Lincoln Park community in Rockville. In 2019, Pint was inducted into the inaugural class of the Rockville Baseball Hall of Fame.

As an additional honor, on June 12, 2022, the Ripken League will play the first annual Clarence “Pint” Isreal Juneteenth Classic at Shirley Povich Field in Cabin John Regional Park featuring the Bethesda Big Train and the Gaithersburg Giants. Festivities start at 12:30 p.m. with a ceremony at 1:45 p.m. and first pitch of the game at 2 p.m.

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN SUPPORT BIG TRAIN BASEBALL

Support the annual We Are Big Train fundraising campaign!

Big Train baseball at Povich Field has been able to provide affordable family fun since 1999 because of the extraordinary generosity of our Big Train fans. From 1999 to 2011, our Bethesda Community Base Ball Club (BCBBC) built Povich Field, started Big Train baseball, and donated $600,000 to improve youth fields. Since regaining stewardship of Big Train in June of 2020, BCBBC has continued our tradition of serving the community. Our annual We Are Big Train campaign provides us with the resources to support Big Train and continue our community service initiatives. Please make a one-time contribution or sign up to make automatic monthly deductions. All contributions are tax deductible.

In 2019, we replaced the seats behind home plate with brand new seat backs. Donors were able to inscribe seat plaques to honor a coach, a parent, a child, or just to memorialize the family's love of Big Train baseball. Over the next few years, we will need to replace the 500 remaining seats. This is your opportunity for your family to be a part of Povich Field. Each inscribed seat plaque costs $250 ($150 is tax deductible).

The Bethesda Community Base Ball Club, Inc. (BCBBC) is a 501(c)(3) tax-exempt public charity as determined by the IRS. BCBBC is registered in the State of Maryland doing business as the Bethesda Big Train. BCBBC's federal EIN is 85-0895405. All contributions are tax deductible to the extent permitted by law.

Big Train Outstanding Service Awards

Bethesda Community Base Ball Club founders John Ourisman and Bruce Adams envisioned a community-based organization staffed largely by volunteers. More than one thousand volunteers helped make the Big Train experience special for our fans under our first volunteer coordinator Bill Hickman. Bill and Randy Schools, our Booster Club chair for two decades, personify the Big Train volunteer spirit. Since 2002, 86 Big Train volunteers and partners have received our Randy Schools Big Train Outstanding Service Awards. And since 2003, 90 volunteers have been included on the John Ourisman Big Train Volunteer Honor Roll in recognition of five years of volunteer service to Big Train baseball.

Bill Hickman & Randy Schools

At our November 13, 2021 Annual Big Train Base Ball & Holiday Auction, we presented our Randy Schools Big Train Outstanding Service Awards to sculptor Toby Mendez who turned Shirley Povich and Walter Johnson into bronze; architect Richard Leggin who designed the setting for the Shirley and Walter sculpture; Guy Brami of our partner Gelberg Signs; Associate Head Coach Galvin Morris; and long-time Big Train fan and our BCBBC Secretary-Treasurer John Daniel.

JOIN THE BIG TRAIN BULLPEN CLUB

Do you love baseball, meeting new people, and staying active during the summer? If so, please consider joining the Bethesda Big Train's Bullpen Club, a team of volunteers who help with game day operations.

The Big Train has a rich history of giving back to our community, and you can be a part of it. Bullpen Club members serve as welcomers and ushers, help to keep the seating areas orderly, and assist fans who have questions. The Big Train also features a robust middle and high school volunteer program, so parents can help out at games while their children accrue important Student Service Learning (SSL) hours.

Bullpen Club members who agree to work a minimum of five games receive an official Bullpen Club shirt to be worn at games while on duty, an 8-game ticket pack, and a picnic dinner with Big Train Manager Sal Colangelo and the Big Train players.

If you're interested, please reach out to Big Train general manager Michael Michaud at michael@bigtrain.org.

BUILDING A BIG TRAIN PIPELINE OF TALENT:

Strengthening Our Fan-First Culture of Service

by Bruce Adams, Big Train Founder

When Rachel Northridge was in high school, she spent a summer on the Big Train High School Leadership Council organized by Big Train general manager Alex Thompson. Now, Rachel is Monumental Sports and Entertainment's senior manager of client services managing suites for two hundred plus events each year at Capital One Arena. And she is a member of the governing board of our Bethesda Community Base Ball Club.

Patrick Chapman started volunteering at Big Train games when he was in middle school. Starting as a volunteer in the Povich Field team store, Patrick took on a number of game night operations jobs over the years and helped with community events beyond the ballpark. In 2021, he was named assistant general manager and given responsibility for managing online ticket sales as the Big Train moved from general admission seating to sales of specific seats in response to the covid challenge. Patrick is a rising junior at George Mason University pursuing an economics degree while playing on the ice hockey team.

The small town charm of Big Train baseball at Povich Field is a rarity in the hustle and bustle of a busy urban-suburban place like Montgomery County. We think a key to keeping this small town charm is attracting talented young people when they are in middle school and teaching them our Big Train fan friendly, customer service culture. I remember my co-founder John Ourisman once observing in our early years of Big Train, "I'll bet if all the adults left their volunteer positions to watch the game, the middle school students could run the place." I have never been quite sure if he was kidding or not. But I do remember fondly all the parents over the years who have thanked me for introducing their children to community service through their volunteer work at Povich Field.

To make sure this fan-first culture of service to others continues as the core value of our Big Train organization, we are bringing back the high school leadership program this summer with six Alexander DiMisa High School Leadership Fellows – Alex Chang (Walter Johnson), Robert Hsu (Walter Johnson), Henry Leggett (Landon), Bronwyn McNulty (Whitman), Jack Sherbacow (Bullis), and Jack Stashower (Walter Johnson). For twelve years, starting at the age of five, Alex DiMisa was a Big Train volunteer working to enrich the experience of Big Train fans of all ages. We are proud to name our leadership program in honor of his life of service and heroism.

The DiMisa High School Leadership Fellows program is designed to inspire a new generation of young servant leaders. Middle school

Alexander DiMisa

High School Leadership Fellows

Volunteers are the heart and soul of small community based organizations like the Bethesda Community Base Ball Club. Dedicated volunteers Becky Crowley, Tom DiMisa, Jeff Haven, and Bill Hickman are the secret sauce that make Big Train baseball at Povich Field so special.

Alexander and Christopher DiMisa, sons of Mercedes Sundeen and Tom DiMisa, were two of those volunteers. For twelve years, starting at the age of five, Alex was a Big Train volunteer working to help enrich the experience of Big Train fans of all ages. Whether selling raffle tickets or helping to run the concession stand, Alex brought joy to those he served. From Cub Scout to Eagle Scout, at Gonzaga College High School and Fordham University, Alex dedicated his life to serving others.

On January 18, 2021, when the fire alarm went off in his Brooklyn apartment building, Alex grabbed his fire extinguisher and helped put out the fire. He helped his neighbor and her dog safely out of her apartment and stayed with them in the smoke-filled hallway until the fire fighters left. Tragically, this was Alex's last act of service and heroism.

To honor his service to others and inspire a new generation of young servant leaders, we are proud to name the high school volunteers who help us run our Big Train operation "Alexander DiMisa High School Leadership Fellows."

is not too young for baseball crazy kids who want to learn to serve others to start logging Student Service Learning (SSL) hours working as game night volunteers. My hope is that some of this summer's young volunteers will be DiMisa Fellows just a few summers from now. And that some of the inaugural DiMisa Fellows once in college will aspire to be Tim Kurkjian Sports Journalism Fellows and Bill and Mike Veeck Baseball Operations Fellows.

Our plan is to develop a pipeline of talent that produces our future Big Train general managers and assistant general managers and enriches the global sport management pool of talent. Watch out Rachel, there are some talented young people coming for your job!
